

Bar Coding Steel Structural Beams

This steel producer uses Pannier MCL1800 high-temperature bar code metal tags to identify beam blanks as they are cast. The tags are nailed on each beam while they are still hot, at up to 1800°F and remain with the beams for life.